

Basic Design Mod 6

Design Part 2 Quiz

Student's Name: _____

Design elements are not just thrown down willy-nilly. There is a plan. Looking at great design will allow you to understand the importance of how elements communicate.

When looking at design, always remember Good CRAP. (C + R + A + P + D + U)

Part 1: Explain the following elements of a good design by giving an example of each. (8.33 per answer)

1. Contrast:

2. Repetition

3. Alignment

4. Proximity

5. Dominance

6. Unify

Part 2: Use the spread below and answer the following questions.

RoadToState

Team uses new energy as driving force to success

By Megan Christie

"We worked better together," boys' head basketball coach Steve Blue said. "No one cared about individual stats, it was always about what was best for the team."

The Tigers had four goals they were striving to reach in the season. The first goal was to win their end-season tournament. The second and third were to win the league title and to win substate. The last and final goal was to win the state tournament.

"We met three out of our four goals for the season," Blue said. "The team exceeded everyone's expectations. The preseason polls placed us as fourth in just our league, and we ended up winning league."

The team ended the season with a record of 21-2 overall and 13-1 in district. There were many factors the team attributed its success to.

"One of the things that sticks out to me was the shot Noah Strunk made to put us into triple overtime against Andover Central," Blue said. "It was a huge shot and the confidence we gained from winning that game carried us through the rest of the season."

Winning the game against Andover Central made winning the league title all right or ready for the Tigers. "Helping them accomplish yet another goal."

The coaching staff focused on the team being aggressive during every single practice. Practices allowed the team to better their existing skills and improve in areas like defense.

"Rebounding was something we could hang our hat on all season," Blue said. "We set a new school record!"

Another factor that helped the boys reach their goals was the amount of support the school showed throughout the season.

"The student section was better this year because we were winning, which helped," sophomore Dylan Vincent said. "They were really into it."

Coach Blue focused on two things to help prepare the team for the state tournament. The first focus was playing harder defense. They also focused on not being selfish by getting the team free. This helped the boys prepare for state.

"We were the number one team going in," senior Noah Strunk said. "We just lacked experience and didn't play as a team."

Unfortunately, the season ended in the first round of the state tournament.

"I would do anything to play that game again," Vincent said. "We were ahead the first three quarters and could have beat them by a lot."

Despite the emotions of how the season ended, coach Blue wanted to focus on the positives.

"It was a tough loss, we had been in control for the first three quarters of the game," Blue said. "We just focused on the accomplishments of the season. The senior class won eight championships in their four years, which is impressive."

Come Together

The boys varsity basketball team huddles together before their game against Delta High School. Every year I allow the kids to take ownership in their season and go to the season," head coach Steve Blue said. photo illustration by Noah Strunk

Armed, Ready

The basketball team managers help provide water and help out the team any way they can. "You have to be dedicated because you have to go to every game," senior Mackenzie Steele said. photo illustration by Noah Strunk

Bring the Heat!

Senior Noah Strunk gets a rebound at the Eastover vs. Andover Central game. "I got more into it during the season so that I could help bring other people up," he said. photo by Graham Baker

Light Them Up

Junior Matthew Pike tries to make a layup at the Eastover vs. Maize South game. "Our season went better than we expected," Pike said. "I became more confident as the season went on." photo by Megan Christie

Shut it Down

For tall senior Senny Brown tries to block a shot at the Eastover vs. Maize South game. "It was a pretty good season, but we didn't finish like we wanted to," Brown said. photo by Megan Christie

Boys' Basketball

Do you see contrast on the spread? Where?

Do you see any repetition on the spread? Where?

What are your thoughts on alignment on the spread?

Why is proximity important in this spread?

What is the dominant element on the spread?

How is unity achieved in this spread?
