

Central High School

Our school's mission is to learn leadership, the common core, and relationships for life. Our mission is to provide a safe, disciplined learning environment that empowers all students to develop their full potential. We feel strongly about helping to build leaders that can succeed in whatever endeavor they undertake. Winning is not always the measure of success. Our students understand the "Win, win" philosophy and use it in their daily life. Common standards keep us focused on learning appropriate content and preparing our students to graduate. Last but just as importantly, setting examples for our students of meaningful and lasting relationships will go with them throughout their lifetime.

Central High School in Flatt County is in rural Madison, South Carolina. The school is located on First street. Madison is a small town situated 20 miles from the county seat. Students come from several small communities which are similar in economic status and diversity while most live in the outlying areas in the county. Our student population is made of 47% Caucasian, 36% African American, 6% Multi-race, and 11% Hispanic. One hundred percent of the teachers hold a bachelor's degree and 57% have a master's level or a specialty degree. Difficult economic times have hit the area resulting in buy-out and closing of two local factories. Over the past three years, enrollment has dropped by 3%. While adopting our own unique mission stated in the introduction, we embrace the district mission of providing a safe, disciplined learning environment that empowers all students to develop their full potential. We strongly agree with and uphold the district's belief statement: "In a consistently safe and healthy environment, all students can become responsible, respectful, and resourceful. We believe students learn best when actively engaged in the learning process. Education is a collaborative partnership involving school, family, and community."

Two areas of concerns for the school:

Originally, Central High School was a 10-12 campus for 17 years. In the spring of 2020, the school geared up to become a complete four-year high school for the 2020-2021 school year. This transitions in grade-level composition is causing destabilizing effect on relationships among staff.

Overcrowding was never a problem. But now, the population of the school has increased from 800 students to 1,250 students The school now has 12 portable classrooms.
