do these daily

- Check email/reply to any emails
- Check your schedule for journalism events
- Check that grades are correct
- Create a to do list and work on it during the class
- Email or visit with editors about your page/story/assignment
- •Sign in and out when you leave the classroom, include room # of where you went
- Clean your area
- Log out of computer

Caption Writing

Write a sentence describing what's going on in the photo. (This is the only present tense verb.) Then add in BANQUET.

Writing a Headline

Who-Did-What: Verbs make or break a head-line. Don't use the banned list (to the left).

Quote Book

See flow chart for how to interview. All texts, emails, voice recording Google recordings, must be saved in your digital quote book folder.

Name Book

It's in your email. Triple check names and make sure they are not on "do not print list."

Using Grades

In stories: Spell out freshman, sophomore, junior...

In captions: set off with numeral (James Smith, 10, Johnny Mans, 12) If there is a list of people the same grade, you can use the word (seniors Jake Johns, Megan Moore and Stacy Jones)

Name Said

"Always use this format when using a quote in a story," James Brown said. "Don't forget where the comma goes either."

Using Names

Students: First mention is full name with grade (sophomore Jackson Flen) Then is just last name (Flen)

Adults: First mention is full name with title (Journalism Adviser Leland Mallett) Then it's Mr. or Ms. and last name (Mr. Mallett)
