What should we include on the

TITLE PAGE?

Just past the cover and front endsheet is page 1, your Title Page. Here's your chance to make a great first impression.

Theme Phrase or School Name

This text should match the look of the theme phrase on the cover. If your theme phrase is already on your endsheet, then make your school name the text focal point instead.

Year & Name of Your Book

No need to list two years. Just use the year the book will be distributed. If you don't use a book name, research to see if there ever was one. If you've never had a name for your yearbook, create one!

Population

List the total number of students, or break it down by grade. Many list the number of faculty as well.

All the School Info

School name (if it isn't the main text) full address, phone number, website

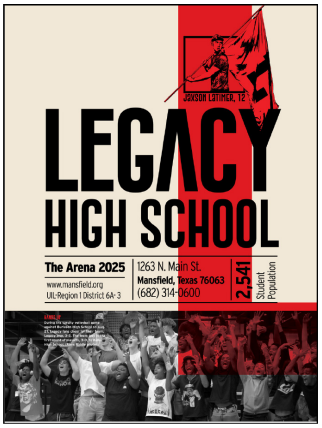

Optional

District name, competition region, principal's name, superintendent's name. *These are more important if you plan to submit to competitions.

Mandatory

Graphics, colors and fonts from your cover and a fantastic photo of students along with a full caption listing who they are and what they are doing. This photo and page set the tone for the entire book, so be loud, reflective or weird to match this book ... just show it with faces!
